The Future Is So Bright!

IDHA Annual Session

Friday & Saturday, November 3-4, 2017

Wellington Fishers Banquet & Conference Center
9775 N by NE Blvd.
Fishers, IN 46037
Dear Friends and Colleagues,

This has been an amazing year of transformation for IDHA and we are excited about our Bright Future! We are very proud of the accomplishments this year produced. Your Board of Directors (BOD) worked hard to facilitate our governance transition, implement compliance with the ADHA Charter Agreement, and prepare for our new General Assembly. Your patience during the final planning for this year’s Annual Session has been greatly appreciated, as we had a mid-term change in the leadership of the Professional Development Council. We are always happy to have more members on this council to help with the planning and organizing of our awesome annual event.

Please consider how YOU can be an active member of IDHA. Are you a skilled note-taker, who wants to be a BOD member? You may be a great fit for the role of IDHA Secretary. If you like event planning, you may enjoy the role of Vice President. If you are passionate about membership and savvy on social media, you may enjoy the role of Membership Chair. We also have council roles open if you prefer a non-leadership role, but would like to get involved. IDHA WANTS YOU!

“I can do things you cannot, you can do things I cannot; together we can do great things.” - Mother Theresa

Respectfully,
Stephanie L. Cohen, RDH, BA
President

Caries infection has increased in young adult populations and continues to be a major disease for children. This course discusses the impact of Nano Technology on today’s preventative and restorative materials. Attendees will have a “hands-on forum” to provide their dental teams with new findings on today’s desensitizers, sealants, and fluoride treatments to combat patient’s current symptoms and prevention of future issues.

Dr. William Paveletz, DMD, is a graduate of Temple University School of Dentistry. He completed his AEGD Residency at University of Pittsburgh Dental School and continued postgraduate work in prosthetics at University of Pittsburgh Dental School. He currently is one of VOCO America’s Clinical Educators speaking nationally to dental retailers, various dental societies and teaching institutions. He has a true passion for restorative dentistry with an emphasis on biocompatibility and holistic dentistry. His hands on workshops focus on topics ranging from dental hygiene, esthetic dentistry, fixed and removable prosthetics and nano technology.

In 2005, JADA published an article stating that 70% of dental students reported shoulder and lower back pain. Musculoskeletal disorders (MSD) account for almost 30% of early retirement for dental professionals. In addition to these staggering statistics, poor ergonomics leading to pain and MSD can affect our productivity and the quality of the treatment we provide to our patients not to mention our mood. Understanding the risk factors for MSD and having the tools to combat acute and chronic pain is paramount to professional and patient health. You will learn to maximize patient access and patient care with proper ergonomics and biomechanics. Extend the life of your career, protect your health and maximize the effectiveness of the dental appointment with this interactive course.

Amy Kinnamon is a national speaker, clinical dental hygienist and expanded function dental auxiliary as well as a published writer, clinical educator and business owner with twenty-two years of experience in the field of dentistry. She currently holds the position of Procter & Gamble North America Professional and Scientific Relations Manager for Professional Oral Health. Her primary focus is prevention and providing optimal oral health care through a collaborative approach. She relies on excellent critical thinking skills to develop comprehensive solutions for the field of dentistry. Amy has committed herself to a career that provides not only patients but also her colleagues knowledge of the importance of total wellness. As a researcher, speaker, and writer she empowers colleagues in their decision-making by providing knowledge and skills necessary to integrate the most current advancements in dentistry into a collaborative environment.

Amy is an active member of the ADHA, serving as Immediate Past President of the Ohio Dental Hygienists’ Association. She is the 2016 Young Dental Caring Clinician, 2015 Sunstar/RDH Award of Distinction recipient and a 2014 award recipient of Crest/Oral B Pros in the Profession for her service to the underprivileged population of Appalachian Ohio. Amy believes that the most important part of success is giving back. Through involvement her foundation Jackson County Homelessness Committee she has been instrumental in creating avenues for eight transitional houses and resourcing families for sustainable wellness.
Developing a compliance program for the dental practice can be a daunting task. During this program, participants will be introduced to the components necessary to creating a comprehensive and effective clinical compliance program, written policies and procedures. We will explore numerous resources available to aid in the development of a program and discuss the importance of engaging the office team in the process.

Angie Michlig is the Manager of Clinical Programs at Midwest Dental, a Dental Support Organization supporting over 180 practices in 15 states. She also serves as the Committee Chair on Midwest Dental’s Safety Committee. In her roles, Angie manages the organization’s OSHA, infection control, and continuing education programs. She works with a team to develop and implement policies, procedures, and training programs to assist the dental teams they support in creating a culture of safety and compliance. Prior to joining the Midwest Dental Support Center, Angie worked as a dental assistant where she discovered her passion for providing great patient care in a safe environment.

Angie is a member of the Organization for Safety, Asepsis and Prevention and has presented at their annual conference. She is also a member of the American Dental Assistants Association and an Associate Member of the Wisconsin Dental Association. In April 2016, Angie received an appointment to the ADAA Council on Education.

Developing Your Inner Leader to Enhance Clinical Excellence (1 CEU)

Friday, November 3, 2017   3:00pm-4:00pm

Leadership principles can be applied to many scenarios and the importance of leadership to enhance clinical excellence is a core component to build case acceptance and practice at the top of your scope. Each member of the dental team can lead from their individual role contributing to practice success and an elevated patient experience.

Tammy Filipiak, RDH, MS, is a practicing dental hygienist with 28 years of experience in clinical, educational, and management settings. She joined Midwest Dental Support Center in 2004 as the Director of Dental Hygiene and was promoted to the Director of Clinical Development in 2010, and in 2015 to VP of Clinical Development, she also serves as the Assistant Compliance Officer. Tammy earned her dental hygiene degree from Northcentral Technical College, her BS degree in Business from Upper Iowa University, and her MS degree in Organizational Leadership and Quality from Marian University. She was a 2003 winner of the Butler/RDH Healthy Gums Healthy Life Award of Distinction and in 2012 was recognized as one of Six Dental Hygienists You Should Know by Dimensions of Dental Hygiene. Tammy is an active member of the American Dental Hygienists’ Association and currently serves as the President. She has received a Presidential Citation from the ADHA in recognition of her leadership and vision. She is also a Past-President of the Wisconsin Dental Hygienists’ Association. Tammy and her husband have two children and she enjoys activities in the outdoors including biking, running and golf.
The adage, “what you can’t see won’t hurt you” can have disastrous consequences related to infection prevention. The ultimate goal of instrument processing is to provide sterile patient care items. The course will review the basic premise of instrument management through the entire handling, cleaning, sterilization, monitoring and storage cycle. Discussions with hands on activities will include instrument washers, immediate use sterilization, chemical indicators vs. integrators, wraps vs. pouches, and biological monitoring recommendations. Participants will leave this course signed, sealed and ready to deliver sterility assurance to their clinical practice!

With over 20 years of academic and directorial experience, Leann Keefer has gained a reputation as a trailblazer and international speaker in the arena of infection prevention.

In her role as Director of Education for Crosstex International, Ms. Keefer proactively identifies trends in the fields of healthcare and infection prevention, developing and implementing the company’s long-term strategies relating to education and professional relations.

Leann received her degree in Dental Hygiene as well as her Bachelors of Science Degree in Education from Indiana University; she was awarded her Master’s Degree in Business Management from Indiana Wesleyan University.

Leann was appointed to the OSAP Association Board of Directors in 2012 and serves on various foundation and publication boards in the USA and Canada; she was a site visitor for the ADA Commission on Dental Accreditation.

Silver Diamine Fluoride is becoming an amazing alternative to caries prevention and control. Discovered in the 1940s, SDF is making its way to the US as a way to arrest decay and prevent the need for traditional restorative practices. During this course participants will learn how SDF, take a look at ideal candidates, and learn the ease of use for this product. Introducing dental hygienists to this method of caries prevention will enhance hygiene departments everywhere.

According to research from the University of Iowa, “by 2020 the sheer-volume of medical knowledge will double every 73 days.” Treating our patients as a whole versus focusing on a singular diagnosis represents the future of healthcare delivery. Communication among professionals provides a richness of knowledge that creates a “dream team” for our patients. Collaborative efforts to obtain, share, and process information contributes to consistent patient centered care.

This course is designed to promote intra-office and inter-office communication to cultivate partnerships throughout all aspects of healthcare. An introduction and review of practice guidelines, customized referrals, and documentation will be explored.

Reflection upon past “game changers” in dentistry allows us to look forward and recognize future inter-disciplinary opportunities in healthcare. Participants will engage in a lively discussion on topics related to: elevating communication skills, standardizing office protocols and tailoring documentation. The time is now to “bridge the gap” in healthcare through adaptation, customization and collaboration.

Linda Blackiston, RDH, BS, received her Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene from University of Maryland Dental School after being a business owner for nine years. Her professional and clinical background includes: corporate pharmaceuticals, general practice, periodontics and a staff position in pediatric dentistry at University of Maryland. Linda is currently manager of Professional Education for Philips North America; she has been in her current position for 15 years. Linda is an industry author and lectures nationally.

Linda contributed to the curriculum development for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services SOAR (Stop. Observe. Ask. Respond to Human Trafficking) Technical Working Group. She volunteers with Mid-Atlantic PANDA (Prevent and Abuse Neglect Through Dental Awareness), providing courses on recognizing and reporting cases of abuse and neglect. Linda volunteers, educating the community on human trafficking issues. She serves on the Board of Directors of the Samaritan Women, which is a long-term restoration program for victims of human trafficking.

Gen Z: Choices and Challenges (2 CEUs)
Saturday, November 4, 2017   12:00pm-2:00pm

The current and sometimes shocking health behaviors and trends in the teen generation can influence their oral and systemic health. Dental professional have a clinical opportunity to identify risky behaviors. Encouraging Gen Z to make positive health decisions could impact their choices when challenged.

Participants will engage in a lively discussion on timely topics relating to Gen Z. Dialogue may include oral and overall health issues associated with nutrition, obesity, eating disorders and substance abuse. Gen Z, also known as the Global Generation, engage in multiple platforms of social media. This course identifies and addresses many of the platforms that influence teen’s venturous decisions.

Recognizing high risk behaviors will prepare the dental professional to initiate dialogue that may impact a teen for a lifetime.

This course examines the principals of pharmacy and drug therapies used in dentistry including pain medications, antibiotics and sedation therapies. It will provide the dental professional with a background and working knowledge of medications and related indications that impact the oral health of their patients.

David Rippey, RPh, graduated from the Purdue University College of Pharmacy in 1994. He worked in retail pharmacy at Park Pharmacy from 1994 to 2003. From 2003 to 2016, he worked at Walgreen’s; from 2003 to the present, he has worked at Goshen General Hospital.
